INTRODUCTION

The Quality Management Handbook is the principal source of guidance on quality management processes and procedures for staff of Edge Hill University and its partner organisations. These processes are subject to continuing review, evaluation and adaptation in order to respond to changing circumstances and requirements but frequent revisions would be impractical and potentially confusing to users. Chapter 10 New Procedures has therefore been developed as a 'holding area' for in-year procedural changes that have been approved by the Academic Quality Enhancement Committee (AQEC). As a consequence, there is no unifying theme to its contents other than that they are innovative and to some extent experimental, and it is intended that they will be reviewed and incorporated within the relevant chapters when the complete Handbook is re-published at the start of each academic year.
