

Please consider disclosing your pregnancy to your faculty as soon as possible, particularly where elements of your programme of study present a risk to the health and safety of you or your baby

At your earliest convenience, request a meeting with your Personal Tutor or other trusted member of staff to discuss the implications of your pregnancy for your course of study

Your Personal Tutor or chosen member of staff will consider the implications of your pregnancy for the course of study and ensure that any appropriate maternity (and/or risk) assessments are completed

Faculties have their own tailored processes & documents (inc. maternity / risk assessments)

Please contact Academic Registry for further advice

Next steps/course changes

Student Union Advice

Funding Queries

Accommodation Queries

Finance/Benefit Queries

Health & Wellbeing advice

Contact Academic Registry on:

AR-Academic-Records@edgehill.ac.uk

Contact Student Union Advice on:

SUADVICE@edgehill.ac.uk

Contact Tuition Fees on:

tuitionfees@edgehill.ac.uk

Contact Accommodation on:

accommodation@edgehill.ac.uk

Contact Money Advice Team on:

moneyadvice@edgehill.ac.uk

Contact Health & Wellbeing on:

studentwellbeing@edgehill.ac.uk

Intercalating?

<https://www.edgehill.ac.uk/registry/programmes/>

YES

Please confirm your intended dates for your maternity leave. Your Personal Tutor will complete an intercalation agreement form with support from Academic Registry

Please provide your MATB1 form to Academic Registry if required

Academic Registry will arrange any necessary DBS/Medical prior to your return

Faculties have their own tailored processes for tracking/ placement requirements etc.

NO

Please communicate your intended dates of non-attendance. You must take a minimum of 2 weeks maternity leave (6 weeks preferred). Your Personal Tutor will stay in regular contact with you throughout your break

Faculties have their own tailored processes for tracking/ placement requirements etc.

Support for you upon return to your studies

Your Personal Tutor will be able to support you fully when you return to your studies after your maternity break. If you need additional support, please contact the relevant department at the email addresses shown above.

Breastfeeding? Whilst mothers may breastfeed anywhere on campus, a room can be made available on request.