Modern Slavery and Human Trafficking Statement

Financial Year 2021/22

INTRODUCTION

This statement is made pursuant to section 54(1) of the Modern Slavery Act 2015 and constitutes our Slavery and Human Trafficking Statement for the financial year ending 31st July 2022.

Our organisational structure

We are a UK Higher Education Institution providing a wide range of teaching, research and related activities. Our main campus is based in Ormskirk, West Lancashire. We have 14,699 students registered on courses in the UK and overseas. We employ 3,059 people and have an income of £132,988m for the financial year ending 31st July 2022.

More information about us and our activities is available here: <https://www.edgehill.ac.uk/>

Modern slavery is a crime and a violation of fundamental human rights. It takes various forms, such as slavery, servitude, forced and compulsory labour and human trafficking. All of which have in common the deprivation of a person's liberty by another to exploit them for personal or commercial gain.

We are committed to combatting slavery and human trafficking in our business practices. This statement identifies our status and the actions we are taking, to prevent acquiring goods and services without causing harm to others. In doing so we are supporting the UK Government's action plan to implement the UN guiding principles on business and human rights.

Like most universities we purchase goods, services and works from a wide range of suppliers and from several categories, which have been identified as high risk in terms of the potential for slavery, servitude, forced and compulsory labour, and human trafficking, referred to as Modern Slavery in this statement. These include but are not limited to:

- Security Services
- Hospitality and Catering
- Information Communication and Technology Equipment and Services (IT)
- Cleaning
- Construction
- Clothing

Our supply chains

Edge Hill University is actively engaged with its responsibilities under the Modern Slavery Act 2015. An initial briefing and regular updates at the Value for Money (VFM) and Procurement Group has raised awareness across faculties and departments, and we have continued to engage with consultancy support from NETpositive Futures to consider our actions under the Modern Slavery Act. We remain committed to better understanding our supply chains, working towards greater transparency and responsibility towards the people working in them.

We will be continuing to use the NETpositive Supplier Engagement (HE) Tool to provide a single mechanism to engage contracted and non-contracted suppliers with issues of modern slavery and human trafficking. This Tool was developed by the North West Universities Purchasing Consortium (NWUPC), the University Caterers Organisation (TUCO) and the North Eastern University Purchasing Consortia (NEUPC).

The Supplier Engagement (HE) Tool will enable us to:

- collect data on which of our suppliers are aware of, and engaged with, the responsibilities relating to modern slavery and human trafficking, as well as those which are not;
- offer support, guidance or training to our supply base and to share best practice between them;
- track the actions being taken, and, where required, the progress being made, by our supply chain in addressing aspects of modern slavery;
- have access to this information in real time; and
- build modern slavery into our contract management processes based on action plans developed by our suppliers.

Our effectiveness in combating slavery and human trafficking

The NETpositive Supplier Engagement (HE) Tool allows us to access data created by our suppliers to enable us to ascertain the percentage of our suppliers which have:

- been made aware that modern slavery is a consideration for their business;
- acknowledged modern slavery is a consideration for their business;
- committed to take action to address modern slavery in their business;
- completed actions which address modern slavery in their business; and
- set actions to undertake training on modern slavery.

The Tool will also provide examples and evidence shared by our suppliers about their activities in relation to modern slavery and human trafficking. The data from the Tool will enable us to differentiate responses by business type so we can identify progress in priority risk areas such as construction, hospitality and clothing.

Actions from August 2021 to July 2022

1. We continued to contact the top 1600 suppliers and beyond, used at Edge Hill University by value and identified which of those are not currently using the NETpositive Supplier Engagement (HE) Tool. When contacting them we asked for them to engage with the tool.

- a. In the last year, an additional 60 genuine suppliers have been added to the database or have available on their website or by email a statement to demonstrate they are aware of MSA15 and they are actively working towards ensuring their supply chain is free from Modern Slavery.
- b. This is due to our commitment to email our suppliers, our discussions with suppliers at reviews and as part of the procurement and new supplier onboarding process in Facilities Management.
- c. This will actively reduce the risk of a supplier failure.
- d. This now means, that out of our top 100 suppliers 71% compared to 63% in the previous year, have either signed up to the NETpositive Supplier Engagement (HE) Tool or have a statement on their website or available to request.

2. We actively encourage engagement with the North West Universities Purchasing Consortium (NWUPC) and The Universities Catering Organisation (TUCO) frameworks that embed Modern Slavery Act considerations, within their procurement activities.

3. The Modern Slavery Policy has been supported by the Value For Money (VFM) group and communicated to the wider University in 2021/22, this was completed across all support functions and faculty. To really drive an awareness into the fabric of the University, as part of new staff induction, they will receive information about modern slavery and signposts to the statement and policy document as well as access to the NPF tool and a named institutional contact for further advise or information.

Supplier Engagement and Development

We continue to focus on our top 100 suppliers by value, that accounted for approx. 75% of our annual expenditure. As of June 2022, 71% of those suppliers are now registered with Net Positive Futures or have access to a statement on their website. This is an improvement for the same period on the previous year. The suppliers utilising the NPF tool have completed a sustainability assessment including Modern Slavery and have an action plan in place to mitigate the risks associated with their supply chain. We have continued to contact a great number of suppliers and have requested that they engage with the tool as soon as possible. This work will continue in 2022/23.

Since December 2019, we have also been completing Modern Slavery audits around the campus. This involves approaching contractors and agency staff on site, requesting their name, company name and purpose of their visit. We then contact their head office and request that they confirm that the contractor or agency staff member on site has completed the appropriate right to work in the UK checks. We have challenged over 144 contractors and agency staff to date. This is a practical step to ensure that contractors and agencies demonstrate due diligence and are aware that we take the risk of Modern Slavery very seriously at Edge Hill University.

The Procurement Manager has been working closely with the Environment and Sustainability Manager and NET Positive Futures to look at ways of linking the HE Tool to our sustainability goals.

This approach and the evidence gathered will assist us in targeting our activities to those suppliers and supply chains who are either not aware that Modern Slavery is an issue for their business or are not taking a pro-active approach within their supply chains. We consider this activity a sensible approach to set our baseline for engagement with our suppliers and in the priority supplier categories.

We continue to work with our sector colleagues to share best practice and keep up to date on identifying and assessing risks and actions within the supply chain through our involvement with the Purchasing Consortia.

Planned actions for August 2022 to July 2023

We are committed to ensuring there is no modern slavery or human trafficking in our supply chains or in any part of our business. As part of this commitment we intend to take the following further steps:

- We will communicate our Modern Slavery and Human Trafficking Policy through our induction process to all new starters;
- We will actively promote the Modern Slavery Policy on our internal wiki;
- We will continue to identify within our top 100 supply chain, any suppliers of products or services that do not engage with the NETpositive Supplier Engagement (HE) Tool; this will lead to further requests to engage with the tool or identifying if they already have a statement and/or policy. This will then be recorded on our register.
- We will continue to complete the Modern Slavery contractor and agency staff audits.
- We will continue to ensure where possible all future procurement is completed with suppliers who currently engage or who will be prepared to engage with the NETpositive Supplier Engagement (HE) Tool;
